

Gadzooks! The cavaliers are after your money

SIR CHARLES Gerard's cavaliers are preparing to go to battle again ... this time for charity.

For Sir Charles's illustrious Regiment of Foot, never found wanting when there's hard fighting to be done, have set off on a 40-mile march from Swansea to Cardiff.

Some 30 cavaliers, members of the Sealed Knot Society who re-enact battles of the Civil War, have undertaken a sponsored walk to raise money for the Kidney Research Foundation for Wales.

The marchers, in their colourful home-made tunics, exact copies of those worn by their namesakes, set off from Swansea Castle yesterday.

The journey will be done over three stages. Last night they stayed at Porthcawl and tonight they will stay at Cowbridge before setting off on a final stage to Cardiff tomorrow.

One of the marchers, Mr. Geoff Charnock, of Bridgend, a production foreman, when he is not busy fighting Roundheads, said they hoped to raise £1,500 for kidney research.

"We have all been sponsored and shall be collecting donations en route."
